

SENSE AND SENSIBILITY CONFERENCE

Gagan Deep Bakshi

Major General Gagan Deep Bakshi SM VSM (born 1950) is an Indian retired Army officer. G. D. Bakshi was born in Jabalpur, Madhya Pradesh, to S. P. Bakshi, who was the Chief Education Officer of the Jammu & Kashmir State Forces (6 J&K Rifles).

Major General Gagan Deep Bakshi or Major G. D. Bakshi, stands as a formidable figure in India's military and intellectual landscape. A combat veteran with extensive experience, he has earned renown not only for his distinguished service but also for his contributions as a Defence Expert, Author, Editor of the Indian Military Review, and Motivational Speaker.

With a prolific literary career, Major General Bakshi has authored 40 books and contributed over 200 papers to prestigious research journals. His writings span a wide range of military and non-military subjects, reflecting his deep understanding and expertise in strategic and geopolitical affairs.

Throughout his career, Major General Bakshi has been a staunch advocate for national security and military preparedness, shaping public discourse through his insightful analyses and commentaries. His contributions to both academia and public policy have solidified his reputation as a thought leader in India's defense community.

In addition to his intellectual pursuits, Major General Bakshi is a sought-after speaker known for inspiring and motivating audiences with his experiences and insights gained from a lifetime dedicated to service and scholarship. His multifaceted contributions continue to resonate, making him a respected figure in India and beyond.